EDUCATIONAL AWARD

The Louisiana Environmental Health Association (LEHA) was conceived in 1947 by six charter members to address environmental concerns in the State of Louisiana. LEHA is also a state affiliate of the National Health Association (NEHA).

Its membership is made up of a varied group of people who study and/or work in environmental protection and public health areas. The group is presently made up of personnel from local government throughout the state, state government, academic institutions, industry, military services, and consulting agencies in all areas of environmental management who are dedicated to helping environmental health professionals meet demands for effective control of environmental issues.

Once per year, LEHA hosts a two-day annual conference to discuss environmental concerns and a one-day mini conference on a "hot" environmental issue. The annual conference is held in January and the mini conference is held in the early fall. Also, once per year, the LEHA sends two persons to the NEHA annual conference and one person to the NEHA mini conference.

LEHA's scholarship award winners will be presented at the Annual Conference held at the end of January.

LEHA awards two educational scholarships each year in order to encourage outstanding students in the environmental and health fields. Two scholarships of $1000.00 each are awarded, one to an undergraduate and one to a graduate student. Any LEHA member in good standing or any official of an accredited university or college offering a degree program in Environmental Health, Public Health, Environmental Science, or Environmental Engineering may nominate students.
